Wiper Blades

Wiper Blade Information

When it comes to recognizing and appreciating the importance of having good vision while driving, the personnel working in the fields of commercial trucking are in a unique position. For these individuals, the combination of inclement weather conditions and inoperative or poorly maintained equipment isn't just an inconvenience; it can mean the difference in time, money and safety-their own and the motorists they share the road with. Inclement weather makes driving conditions unpredictable, however no one should gamble with worn, torn or inefficient wiper blades that leave streaks, a film and an inconsistent view of the road that can limit vision or delay driver judgments.

“Safety research reveals over 90 percent of driving is based on visual cues,” said Dave Frauman, director of engineering at Pylon Manufacturing, the licensee of Michelin's new wiper blades. “It makes sense that using wiper blades that provide high-performance, maximum windshield contact and long blade life can help enhance driving safety and keep rigs on the road in top working condition.”

Growth in the aftermarket wiper blade segment has been steady with 60 percent of consumers reporting they rely on a technician or counter person to recommend the correct product type. Frauman adds, “independent research reveals that consumers associate the Michelin name with high quality, durability, safety, and innovation.”

“Technicians and retailers have an opportunity to educate customers on the link between vision and driving safety,” said Frauman, “and to share the significant strides in wiper blade technology that make replacement fast and easy.”

“Wiper blades are one of the most overlooked pieces on safety equipment,” said Frauman. “Technicians and retailers should be on the lookout for signs of wiper blade wear and share the benefits a Michelin-brand wiper blade has to offer. There isn't a faster or lower-cost way to make the windshield time of a heavy-duty truck customer safer or less stressful than by changing them.”

Michelin's expertise in creating a rubber compound that allows your tires to grip the road in all kinds of weather has inspired the development of a high performance, frameless all-weather wiper blade with many innovative features and benefits, including:

Proprietary M-Guard Advanced Rubber Technology™:

- M-Guard is a permanent part of the rubber compound-not a surface coating that eventually wears off-containing PTFE (Polytetrafluoroethylene) technology to help maintain an effective wiping edge and extend blade life by reducing wear.
- Rubber blade is molded in one durable piece. Rubber wiping element is held securely between two high tensile strength steel beams-not glued-for maximum durability.

Symmetrical/Reversible Blade:

- Permits 180-degree rotation of the blade to extend blade life.

Advanced Frameless Design:

- Eliminates the framework, joints and openings of conventional blades that can clog with snow, ice and debris for clean, powerful wipes and reliable all-weather performance.
- Smooth, quiet operation in all weather conditions.
- Helps reduce vibration by grasping a vehicle's wiper blade securely.

Integrated High-Downforce Spoiler:

- Converts air flow over vehicle into downward force to help the blade maintain contact and reduce lift and vibration, especially in windy weather and at highway speeds.
